Calley Case Raises Issue

PHOTOGRAPHY: The My Lai massacre, the first and only one in which a soldier, Captain William Calley, was charged with the crime of killing civilians. The case has raised serious questions about the military's role in Vietnam.

The case that makes My Lai so unique, it was a small tragedy in a small place," he said. "No one yet has tried to analyze the problems, to my knowledge, that caused not only My Lai, but the war in Vietnam itself. I am hopeful that My Lai will bring the meaning of war to the surface."

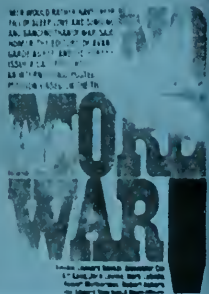

The nationwide outpouring of telegrams to President Nixon, the protests by draft boards and veterans groups and the questioning of our role by blacks and others—these all show Calley put the nationwide pulse-taking to rest.

The President ordered Calley released from prison and held under house arrest during aspects of the 100th anniversary Calley received after the jury's finding that he murdered 22 civilians at My Lai.

But deep and agonizing questions remain to confront and confront the nation. They go beyond Calley, My Lai and the Vietnam war.

ACTIVITIES

Martie Flood recaptures a bit of the '40's.

Isn't he just too much?

Curt Britton, Steve Otto, Steve Wilkins, and Tim Worman trim up a barbershop song.

"Something Special" Arrives On Stage

The girls of "As You Like It" use umbrellas to keep raindrops from falling on their heads.

Stage lights dimmed, the auditorium became hushed, and all eyes were focused on the stage. North High's talent carried the audience through a half-century of memorable music. The best of George M. Cohan, famous Broadway tunes, the Charleston, the jitterbug, a barber-shop quartet, electric guitars, and selections from HAIR were sparked by slapstick comedy routines. The program had "Something special" for everybody.

Madalyn (Mr. Lynch) daintily waves to her fond admirers on the shore.

Mr. Turner tiptoes through the tulips?

Here's "As You Like It" in action.

Dolly (Patti Smith) prays for guidance.

Verena (Peggy Duncan), the family breadwinner, asserts her authority.

Misunderstanding Explodes

A Southern home, a tree house, and flashlights provided the atmosphere for THE GRASS HARP, a drama in two acts by Truman Capote. Simple-minded and overprotected Dolly Talbo (Patti Smith) escaped to a tree house in order to protect her dropsy cure recipe from the ambitions of her older sister Verena (Peggy Duncan). Sharing her exile were Dolly's ward Collin (Curt Britton), the maid Catherine (Gale May), and Judge Charlie Cool (Jim Hagen). After a romance, a fish bowl bath, and a shooting, a bittersweet ending resulted as the sisters were reunited.

Blackberry wine, a glowing fire, and congenial company (Patti Smith, Gale May, Jim Hagen, and Curt Britton) warm a chilly night in the woods.

Self-appointed agents of law and order (Gary Miller, John Woodrow, and Ed Varno) disrupt the peaceful existence of the runaways (Gale May, Jim Hagen, Patti Smith, and Curt Britton).

Sobered by tragedy, the townspeople regret their misguided intervention in a family quarrel.

The situation explodes when Collin (Curt Britton) is shot during the confusion.

Coming Home 1970

Homecoming 1970 began in the crackling blaze of the pep rally's bonfire. Excitement mounted at pregame activities as the new queens arrived in sputtering antique cars and were crowned while North's marching one hundred performed "Lara's Theme." With victory as their goal, the Panthers unleashed their muscle to overpower the Centerville Elks, 20-8. As the grid faded, into focus came the "Back When" dance floor with its old-fashioned lampposts and checkered tableclothes. The colorful balloons suspended from the rafters floated to the floor during the traditional Queens' Dance. The subsequent pop! pop! of bursting balloons interrupted many romantic moments. Eleven-thirty came, amplifiers were unplugged, bright lights flicked on, and Homecoming 1970 was over.

U.S.A. Portrays America's Growth

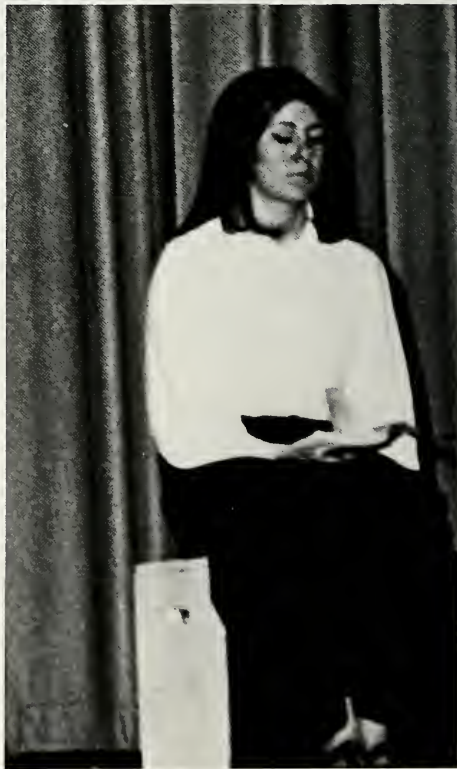

U.S.A., the 1971 Thespian play, was the personification of the United States in character. The lives of the various characters paralleled the social and financial growth of the U.S. through World War I to the Great Depression. A series of "newsreels" between scenes related the history-making events of the times.

Linda Blackwood reveals more of her character in a monologue.

Carrying on a sociable conversation are Eric Wagner, Gail Scott, and Tom Wilson.

Susan Eberling waits for the next cue.

Modeling the apparel of the gay nineties are Gail Scott and Eric Wagner.

Even the cast must help on sets, as Ed Varno finds out.

The cast sits quietly listening to last-minute directions.

Steve Barnes and Veda Spicer kick the habit.

"Please, buy our cornflakes!"

Jail is not necessarily an unhappy experience.

"Are you sure you want to marry him, dearie?"

Sadie Rates "XXX"

Merciless Judge Shoenbach orders Bill Monte and Debbie Dunlap into jail.

Women's Lib had its night at the traditional Sadie Hawkins Dance, which was rated "XXX" this year. Ragged couples were rushed into marriage by tricky Marryin' Sam (Mr. Rice) and received white curtain rings as their "precious wedding bands." Several felt a dastardly hand clutch their shoulders as that dirty Sheriff Turner arrested anyone for a price. There was little justice for the innocent as dire sentences for uncommitted crimes were pronounced by that uncompromising Judge Shoenbach. Couples patiently (and impatiently) waited at the entrance of the fortune-telling tent, eagerly anticipating the good fortunes which would be revealed to them by Predictin' Pearl (Darlene Sedoris). Lovers' Leap, the traditional end for unhappy romances, took a happy turn as "lovers" leaped off and hit the pile of foam rubber. When not distracted by any of these diversions or by the free popcorn and coke, couples danced to the rocking tempo provided by the Crescent Carnival.

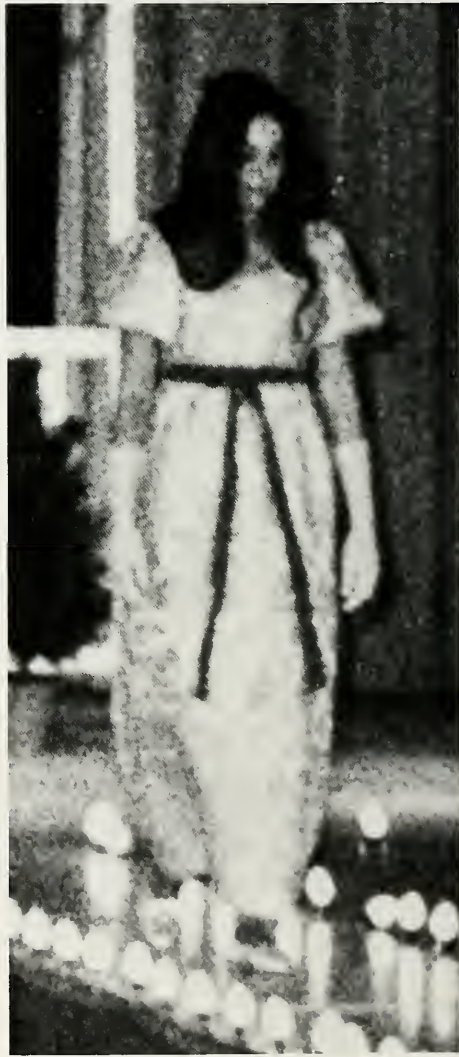

Sheriff Turner makes "The Grab."

Women's Lib Strikes Again

Brenda Holland models her striped pantsuit.

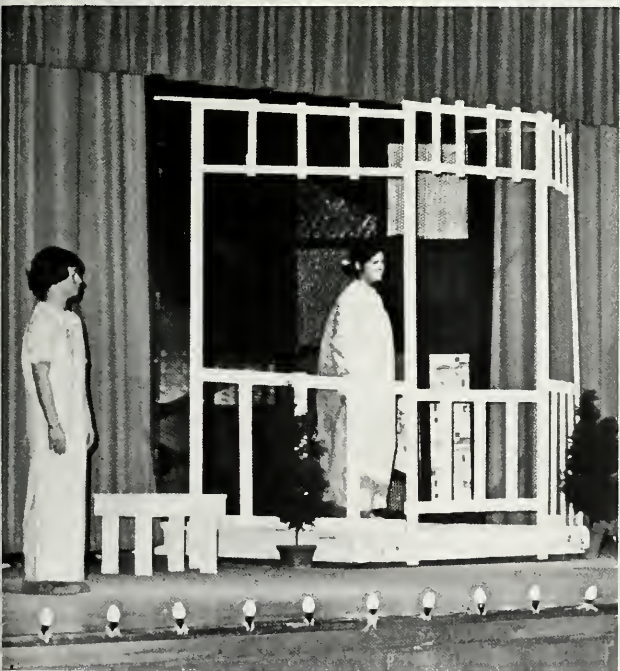

Flowered brocade makes a pretty spring formal.

Carolyn Thomas and her "little friends" have their modeling debuts.

A cuddley coat is Cindy Mesarvey's sewing reward.

White lattice-work and green bushes make a pretty setting for a spring fashion show.

Individualism was the thing at the 1971 style show sponsored by the clothing classes under the direction of Miss Bishop, Mrs. Hart, and Mrs. Parchen. Although the theme of "Women's Lib" was reflected in the jumpsuits and pantsuits, femininity endured as girls modeled velvet formals and flowered dresses. Little sisters, nieces, and nephews added a cute complementary touch to the show.

Campaign Spirit Hits North

Balloons bombard the voters.

Publicity is part of any campaign.

Everything from Hunt's "Snack-Pak" to Payton's sexy posters to Mr. Peanut Man greeted the student body as they entered the school on Student Government Day. Rousing rally songs and little tags were used to persuade seniors to vote for the "right" candidate to represent them for a day in municipal government posts.

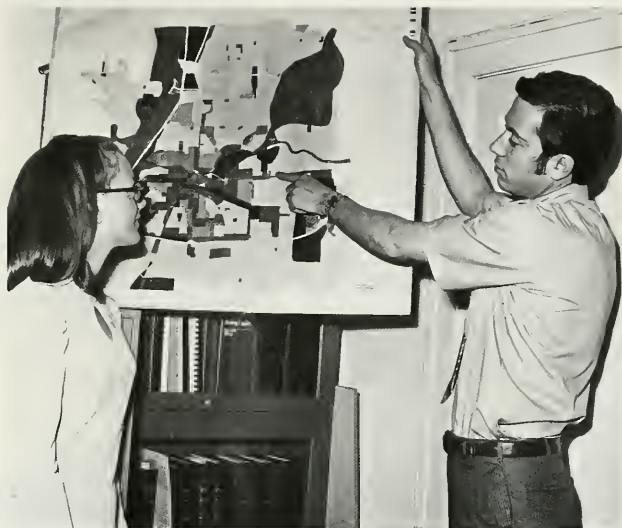

Marcia Ricketts gets help from Mr. Peanuts.

Which witch is which?

Barb Black answers another question about city government.

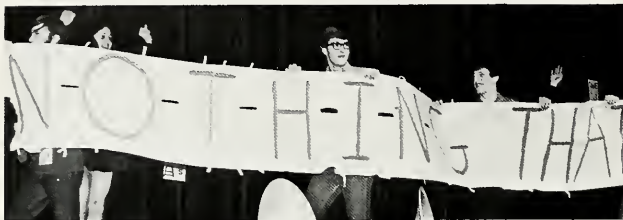

Jenny Saum learns about city planning.

Judge Steve Otto, Commissioner Rick Vince, and Commissioner Bob Bell seem hard at work.

Students Applaud Assemblies

Posters and enthusiasm were typical of the pep rallies.

"...and the crowd enjoyed it all."

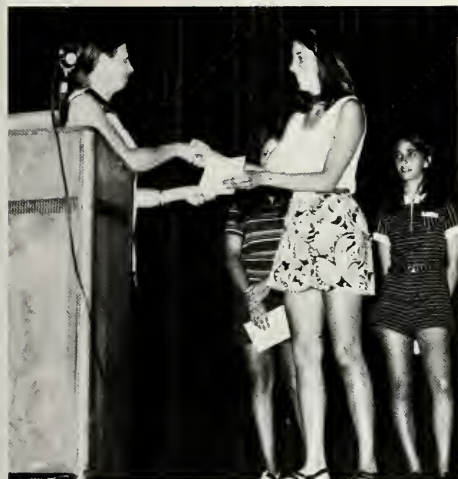

"Free Fare" serenades Doris Miller.

Mr. Palmer poses as "Mr. Legs."

Robin Patton eyes his first-year golf award.

Here Are The Guys . . .

As the gang waits apprehensively, Nathan (Thom Mabra) tries to stall Big Jule (Eric Ronemus).

Sarah Brown (Candi Slusser) questions the contents of her "milkshake."

Nathan Detroit (Thom Mabra) tries to arrange his floating crap game.

And Dolls

Adelaide (Monica Perrymon) is still faithful to Nathan after a fourteen year engagement.

Candi Slusser portrays Sarah Brown, a New York missionary.

Performing at the Hot Box are Adelaide's Girls.

Where's The Action?

Where's the action? At Nathan Detroit's floating crap game, of course. So, the guys are gamblers? The dolls? A nightclub singer and a Salvation Army sergeant? What a combination! North's spring musical GUYS AND DOLLS was just that—a combination of overworked crews, a spirited orchestra, and a hard-working cast. With a cast of characters ranging from innocent Sarah Brown to sleazy Nicely-Nicely Johnson, the show provided both the humor and the action needed for a good comedy.

You can expect to see anything on Broadway.

Accompanying the singers was the orchestra directed by Mr. Smarelli.

Crapshooters bet their souls in a crap game.

After drinking too much, Sarah Brown (Candi Slusser) starts a bar room brawl.

Benny Southstreet (Curt Britton) and Nicely Nicely (Tim Worman) add a comical touch to the show.

"Shelter" Performs At After-Prom

After the formal dance, couples relax at After-Prom.

Sleepy students settle down in the comfortable chairs of the Regent Theatre.

At midnight, the action moved to the Women's building at the Fairgrounds where energetic couples danced to the music of "Shelter," a local rock band. Their more fatigued friends took advantage of the chairs and free refreshments. Later, all relaxed at the Rolling Stones' film "Gimme Shelter." The next day, area parks were filled with sleepy teenagers ending their big weekend with picnics.

"As You Like It" Brings Variety

"As You Like It" performs under a strobe light.

"As You Like It" was organized as a group of thirty juniors and seniors who performed musical show tunes, current pop numbers, and old folk songs. Adding a little variety to the group was a band composed of group members Steve Wilkins, Curt Britton, and John Blackwood. The band performed some of their own originals and provided back-up for group and solo numbers.

The group's first performance was the fall variety show, followed by two Christmas programs. Throughout the year came several other shows. The grand finale of the year was the overnight trip to Columbus to perform with Joanne Worley for the Miss Mid-Ohio pageant at the Ohio Theater.

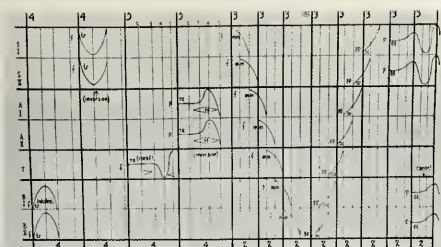

North's Symphonic Choir performs in the splendor of the Netherland Hilton's scarlet and gold Hall of Mirrors.

Choir Travels To Cincinnati

Contemporary was the keynote of the 1970-71 Symphonic Choir. At the Christmas concert, the group gave the premiere performance of Jan Bender's The Creation. The choir received national recognition in being chosen to present a concert of contemporary music at the National Music Educators' convention. On March 11, after months of intensive practice, ninety-five nervous choir members traveled to Cincinnati to entertain the convention with a program ranging from religious numbers accompanied by electronic tape to a selection from the modern opera Peter Grimes. Later in the spring, the choir received a superior rating at the District Choral Contest, which qualified them for the State competition. Other activities included participation in the County Choral Festival and in North's commencement exercises.

As the choir and Mrs. Virginia Holl, their accompanist, watch approvingly, Mr. Baber addresses an audience composed of music educators from across the nation.

"Patterns in Sound" is an example of the innovative music the choir sings.

This year, North hosts the annual County Choral Festival.

"P-A-N-T-H-E-R-S, Let's Go!"

Dehydrating in the sun, rehearsing in the 7 A.M. mist, cleaning spats, being thrown into the lake at band camp, and carousing fun were all part of the 1971 Panther Marching Band. Through a deluge of rain and a field of super-slick mud, the band placed first in Ohio and second overall in Zanesville's celebrated "Bonanza of Bands." The season ended with the traditional Christmas Greens Sale, which more than doubled the previous years' high sales and proved that the 1971 Panther Marching Band was indeed the "best ever."

Effort and concentration make a band member.

Majorette Nancy Flood highlights the performance.

The pep band promotes enthusiasm.

The 1971 Dance Band demonstrated the versatility of high school musicians, performing numbers which ranged from "Going Out of My Head" to such old favorites as "You Must Have Been a Beautiful Baby." After numerous performances before the band parents, the Dance Band was featured in a medley of New York tunes at the Spring Band Concert. The Dance Band's musical season was successfully completed by accompanying the Clark Junior High musical, "So This Is Paris."

Orchestra: Artistry In Sound

"Outstanding performance of the day" was the apt comment made about the North High orchestra by one of the judges at the Ohio State Orchestra Contest. For the sixth consecutive year, the group received a superior rating. Adding to the orchestra's honor, this year more students from North than from any other school qualified for the All-State Orchestra. The seven students who performed in this special orchestra were Cindy Cooke, Joanne Hulick, Marty Roby, Darlene Sedoris, Maureen Stephens, Eric Wagner, and Michele Walls.

The 1971 orchestra's repertoire ranged from classical Beethoven to contemporary Stravinsky to Feuer and Martin's Guys and Dolls. At the winter and spring concerts, Darlene Sedoris (cello), Candi Slusser (cello), Maureen Stephens (violin), Eric Wagner (oboe), and Tom Wilson (French horn) were featured as soloists.

FIRST ROW: Maureen Stephens, Concertmistress; Joanne Hulick, Assistant Concertmistress; Jean Balliet, Pam Lawrence, Vencia Ball, Pam Williams, Darlene Sedoris, and Candi Slusser.

Long rehearsals, calendar sales, contests, concerts, and fun kept the 1971 Symphonic Band continuously involved in something. Band members got a chance to "do their own thing" at concerts with solos, trios, and quartets. Guest musicians this year included the Chenowiths, who soloed on the French horn and the trombone, and the South High trombone section.

Three Cheers For Merry Old England!

English Club had an active, interesting year. An historical Halloween party masqueraded as the first official meeting. The programs of the following meetings ranged from poetry reading by Christy Yaw, to a movie, "Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge," to a folk song sing-along. Two student teachers, Miss Riggle, and Mr. Byerly, presented a program about England. At another meeting, Steve Wilkins, Jeff Davis, and Bill McLemore told about their European tour, and the year ended with an election party for next year's officers.

“Wall Street, Here We Come!”

Future Business Leaders draws its membership from those students enrolled in business courses. Because the club is affiliated with the state and national associations, members may participate in state-wide business tests. This year the Future Business Leaders traveled to Fairmont East where they competed with other schools in several categories of business. Bill Michael's third place in the accounting test enabled him to participate on the national level, which makes this year one of the most successful ever.

For the first time in the history of North's F.T.A. chapter, a scholarship was offered. Cindy Cooke received the fifty-dollar award that was financed by F.T.A. members selling stationery and basketball programs and working in the coatcheck.

The year's program included visitations to area schools and guest speakers from such varied positions as administrator, student teacher, special education instructor, and kindergarten teacher. The annual May election banquet ended the 1971 season.

Education, service, and fun summarized 1971 for the Future Medical Leaders. On a field trip, they toured the new facilities at Mercy Medical Center. Throughout the year they assisted Mrs. Groves in the clinic. By selling candy bars, they earned the one hundred dollar scholarship that was awarded to Nancy Crabtree. A formal dinner at Christmas and a spring picnic were fun times for F.M.L.

Sophomores Nab Decisions

After a year-long period of "open" and "closed" meetings during 1972 in Germany, the new guidelines of the "Middle East School" (METS) had been working well in the first quarter of the year. However, the guidelines changed in early April 1973 to help the school after a seminar with the host country ended in 1972 and the METS Trustees finally agreed upon a new set of guidelines in May 1973.

The new guidelines of the school were for students against such events as the Yom Kippur War and September 1973. The new set of guidelines were the last of their kind in the school.

The 1971 initiation of forty-six members into North's chapter of the National Honor Society was a blending of the new and the old. The newly-revised ritual attempted to make the speakers' messages more meaningful to the students. Also, a new post of Historian was created. In that role Kathy Gebele explained the history of the society. Greater student involvement in the assembly was obtained with the inclusion of the orchestra's and Varsity Women's Glee Club's presentations. Bowing to tradition, as in past years, the speakers represented the society's ideals. Tom Wilson served as Regent of Honor; Ken Elder; Torch bearer; Mary Hughes, Scholarship; Vencia Ball, Character; Eric Wagner, Service; and Peggy Duncan; Leadership.

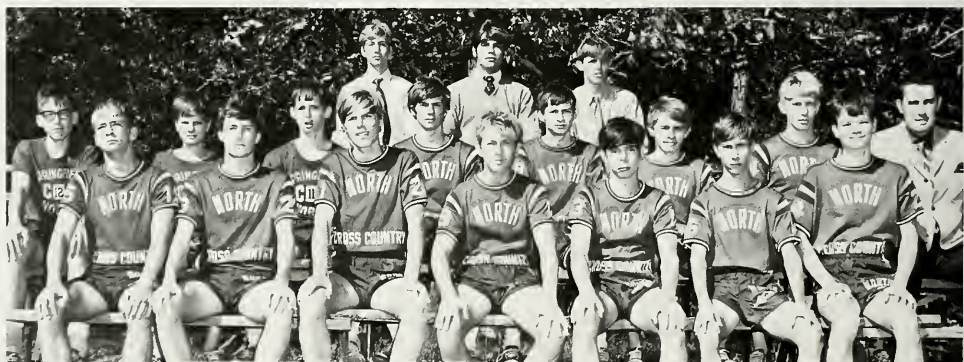

SPORTS

Harriers Cross The Country

Thirteen wins and one loss were evidence of North's Cross Country team's record-breaking season. Shattering North High's best times, Sean Diltz ran the two-mile hill course in 10:06.5 minutes. Going on to the Ohio State Meet, Sean placed 44th in a field of 124. Team captain, Senior Mike Mills, led the team to a first place in the Clark County Meet and a fourth place in the W.O.L. Meet. For accumulating a three-year distance of 731 miles, Mike became an honorary member of the 700-Mile Club. The team and graduate harriers ran over 500 miles in a twenty-four hour marathon to demonstrate team spirit. The Gold Brick Award went to Senior Joe Baldwin for achieving his best time with a phenomenal handicap—two left shoes!!!

Panthers Chase The Pigskin

Although the 1970 Panther football season didn't record a fantastic winning streak, the team actually performed better than their 3-6 record might indicate. Faltering only in the fourth quarters, the Panthers compiled, on an average, more points in the first, second, and third quarters than their opponents. Injuries plagued the team, and head coach Ron Deem was forced to shuffle player positions.

Gymnasts Personify Grace

The frequent losses of both the Girls' and the Boys' Gymnastics teams did not detract from individual accomplishments. Susie Speros, voted the Most Valuable Girl Gymnast, had a successful year on the trampoline. Darlene Burkepile showed great versatility, competing in floor exercise, tumbling, and balance beam. Janice Hunt, along with Susie and Darlene, received a third year varsity plaque. Gerry Garrett, voted the Most Valuable Boy Gymnast, did an outstanding job on the parallel bars, rings, floor exercise, tumbling, and trampoline.

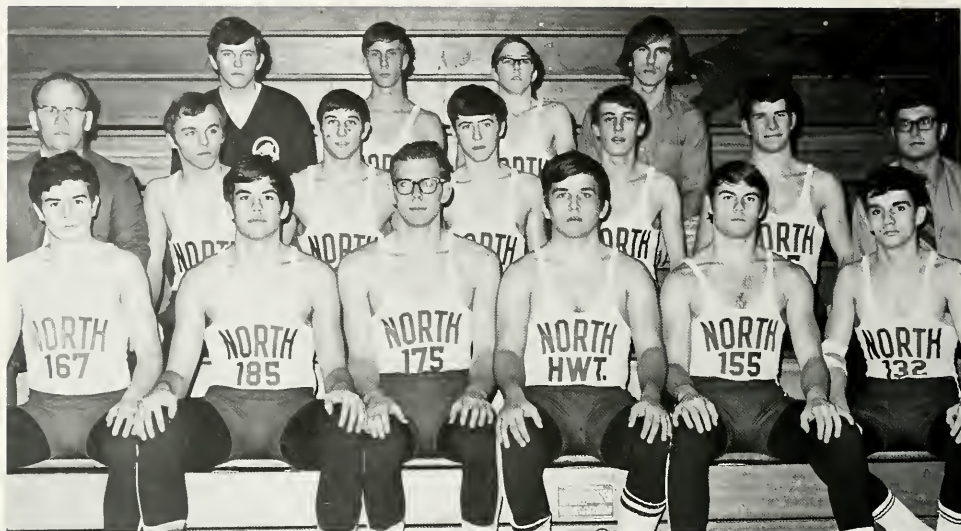

Jerry Garrett defies the forces of gravity.

Underclassmen Learn The Ropes

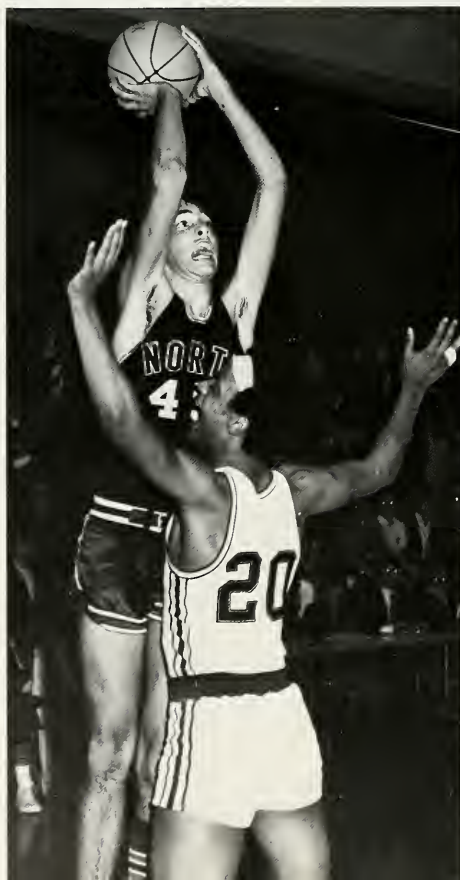

The 1970-71 Reserve Basketball Team ended a successful season with twelve victories and six losses. The Best Defensive Team in the W. O. L., it allowed an average of only 38.4 points in each of the nine W. O. L. games. Honorary Captain Kevin Hill was the high scorer of the season with a total of 219 points.

The Sophomore Basketball Team showed spirit and teamwork as it brought home fourteen wins and only one loss. With a 9-0 league record, the Sophomores secured the title of W. O. L. champs.

Administrator: A Man For All Seasons

As principal, Mr. Lynch listens to students' grievances.

He also confers with parents and teachers.

Mr. Turner, assistant principal, juggles course selections to fit students' schedules.

Mr. Ryman, attendance coordinator, checks a questionable absence.

Mr. Turner also arranges teaching assignments.

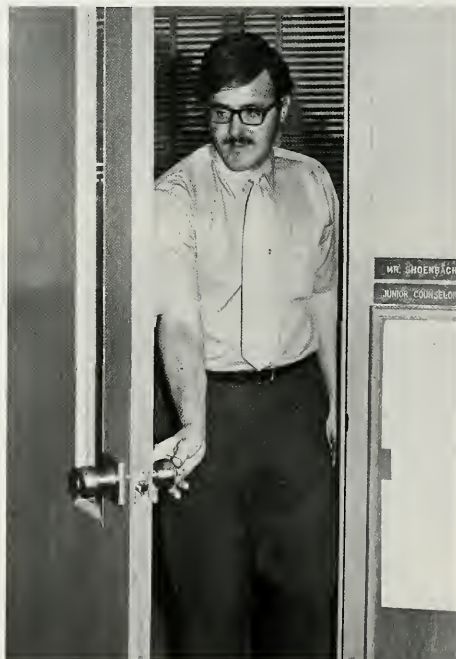

Counselors Offer Guidance

Coordinating Counselor Mrs. Lebold and Senior Class Counselor Mr. Wagner schedule visits from college representatives.

Junior Class Counselor Mr. Shoenbach makes another escape to the teachers' lounge.

Secretaries' Tasks Vary

Steve Warren hopes that counselors' secretary Mrs. Jane Lonsway will overlook his fifth absence and approve his exam exemptions.

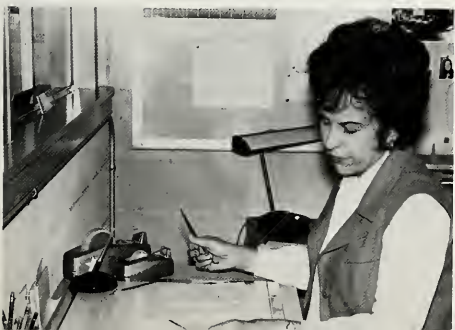

Miss Joyce Cave's friendly voice is a part of North's public relations.

Secretary Mrs. Carol Locher, guardian of North's gold, also supervises the faculty mailroom.

Scissors and paste artist, Mrs. Helen Mustar prepares the STENTOR and school programs for printing.

Secretary Mrs. Maxine Henry runs off another one of those *?%#@ tests.

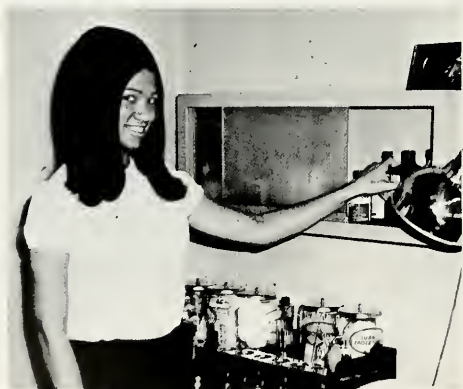

Students Use Medical Facilities

Accounting for students is a major responsibility of Nurse Winifred Groves.

Diane Sassen plays footsie in the clinic.

To Roxanne Bubp, everyone is a potential patient.

"Three milkshakes later..."

Bookworms Unite!

Ordering new books is another task of Mrs. Vasseur, head librarian.

Mrs. Lewis, assistant librarian, greets parents at open house.

Shirley Fowler and Elaine Young help Mrs. Vasseur account for North's volumes.

Custodians Maintain School Grounds

Mr. Philson is ready to attack the lawn.

"Five...four...three...two...one..."

"I think the Dutch Elm disease has hit our berries."

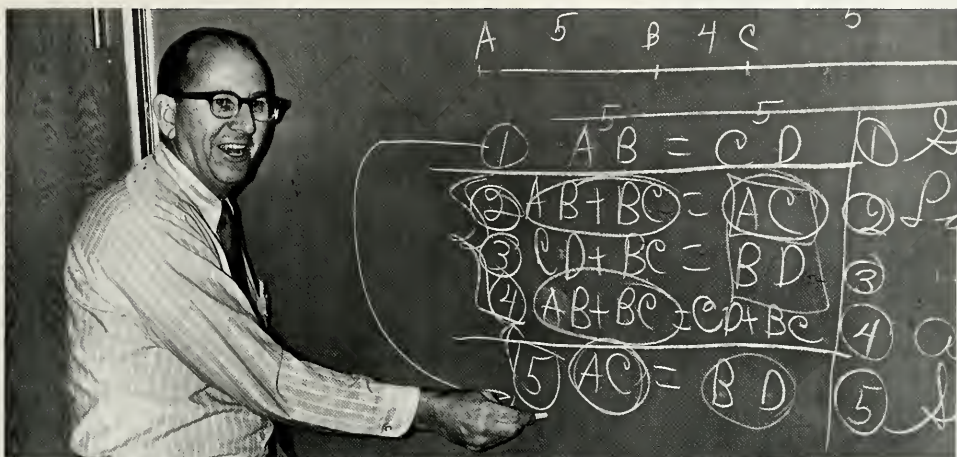

"And then, while we were hiking through the land lab, I lost my class in the quicksand."

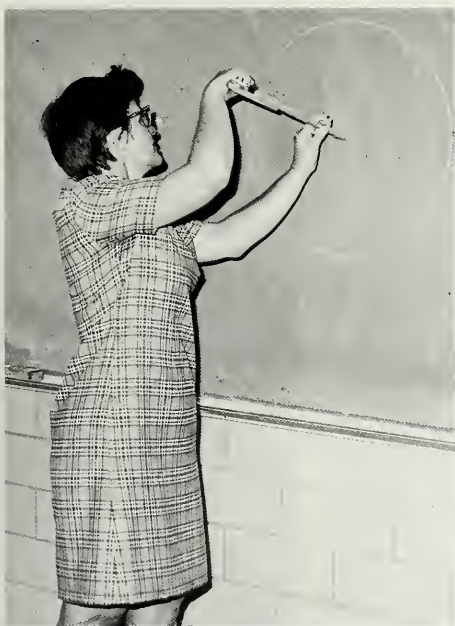

Mrs. King hopes that this experiment is not an exploding success.

Math Combines Old And New

Mr. Garlough explains the five simple steps to insanity.

"Round and 'round we go; where we stop, Mrs. Neal knows."

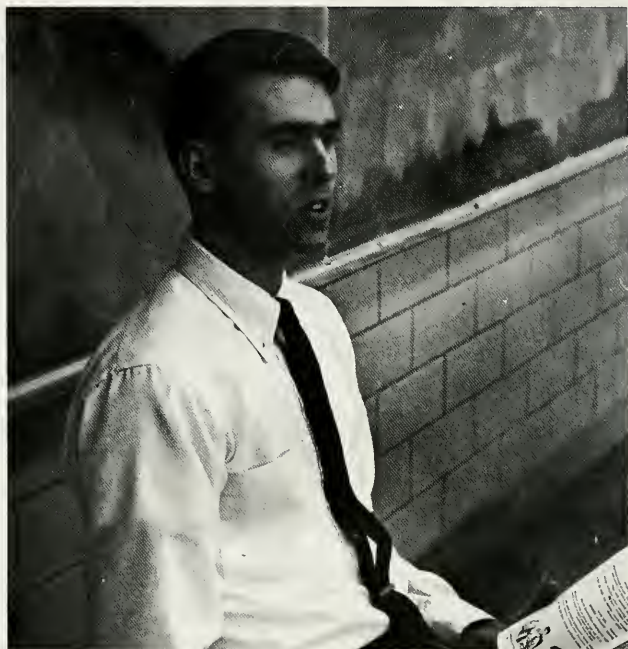

Luanne McDorman unscrambles her homework for the new Computer Math course.

English Goes Semester

Teachers should not eat peanut butter sandwiches before open house.

It's storytime with Mr. Swift!

"The devil made me do it!"

Miss Leonard's motto is "Be specific."

Language Involves Foreign Customs

Germany will rise again!

"Hey, Gringo, quit flipping grease in my lettuce!"

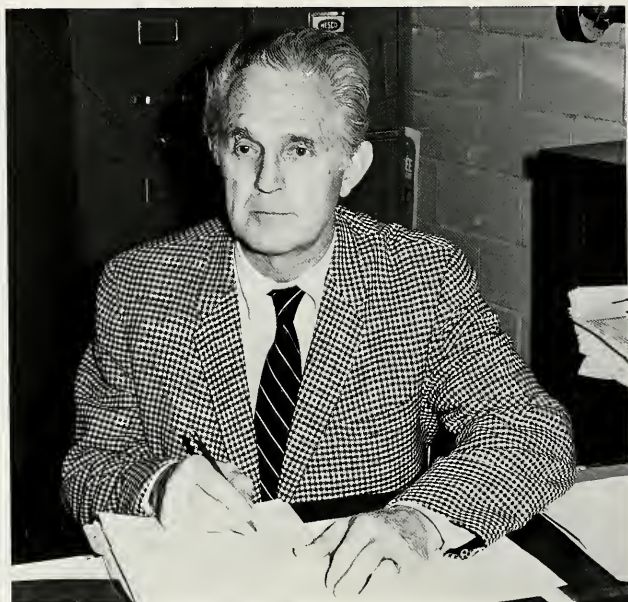

Adrianne Ayers, Anita Dodson, Greg Harshaw, Kevin Jones, Bob Israel, Miss Sundberg, and Mike Ronemus enjoy wearing the latest Roman fashions.

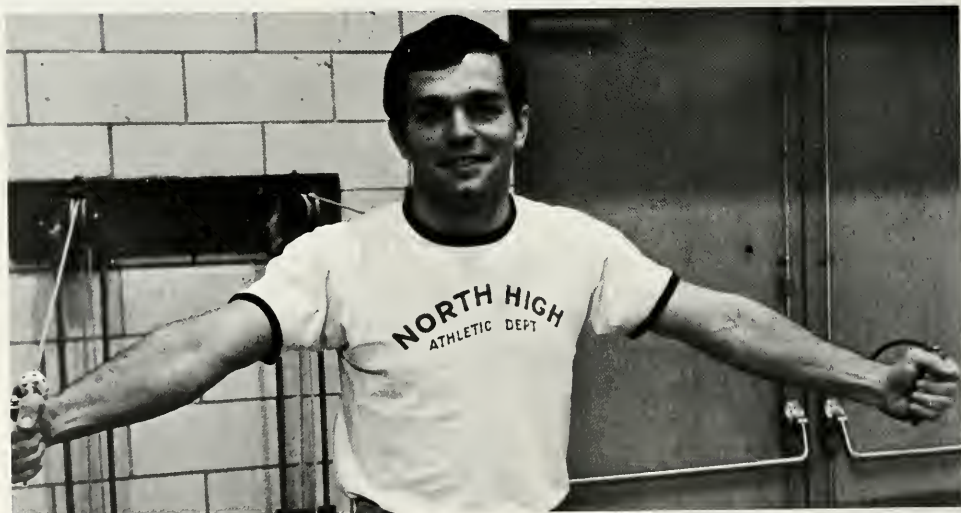

James Henson, Debra Dunn, and Katherine Smith stage a Spanish television extravaganza.

Good Health Is Their Concern

Mr. Pitzer pauses while grading tests.

"Maybe next year I'll be Mr. Arms!"

Fine Arts Add To North's Culture

"Now, when I was a boy..."

Miss Dinges' maxim: "The eye before the brow except after the ear."

"Why did you kick my tuba?"

"Over there, ties are half price."

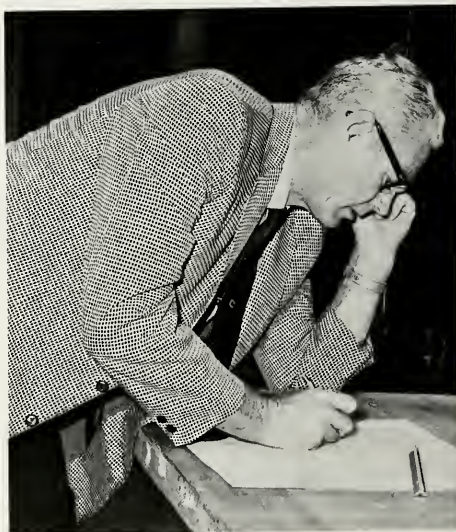

A Hammer Is Man's Best Friend

Mr. Congo conducts a lively Driver's Ed. discussion.

"Never put your fingers in here."

"One of these days, I'm gonna build me a desk and chair."

Homemakers Develop Skills

Mrs. Parchen helps tackle another zipper problem.

Mrs. Hart and Miss Bishop test their students' accomplishments.

There's No Business Like Business

Mrs. Griffin, Miss Ulery, and Mrs. Zolman prove that "a secretary is not a toy."

"How could they confuse 'tort' with 'torte'?"

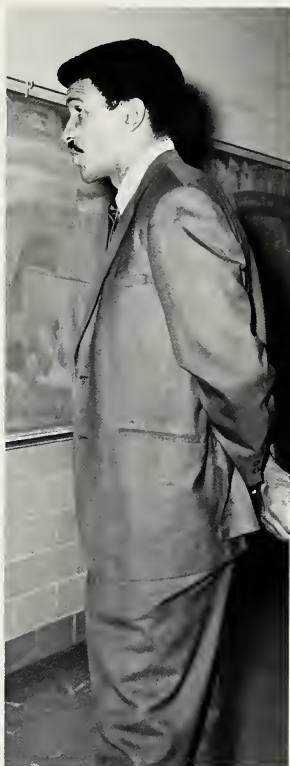

Miss Wolbert approves Becky Merrill's accounting homework.

History Is Never Out Of Date

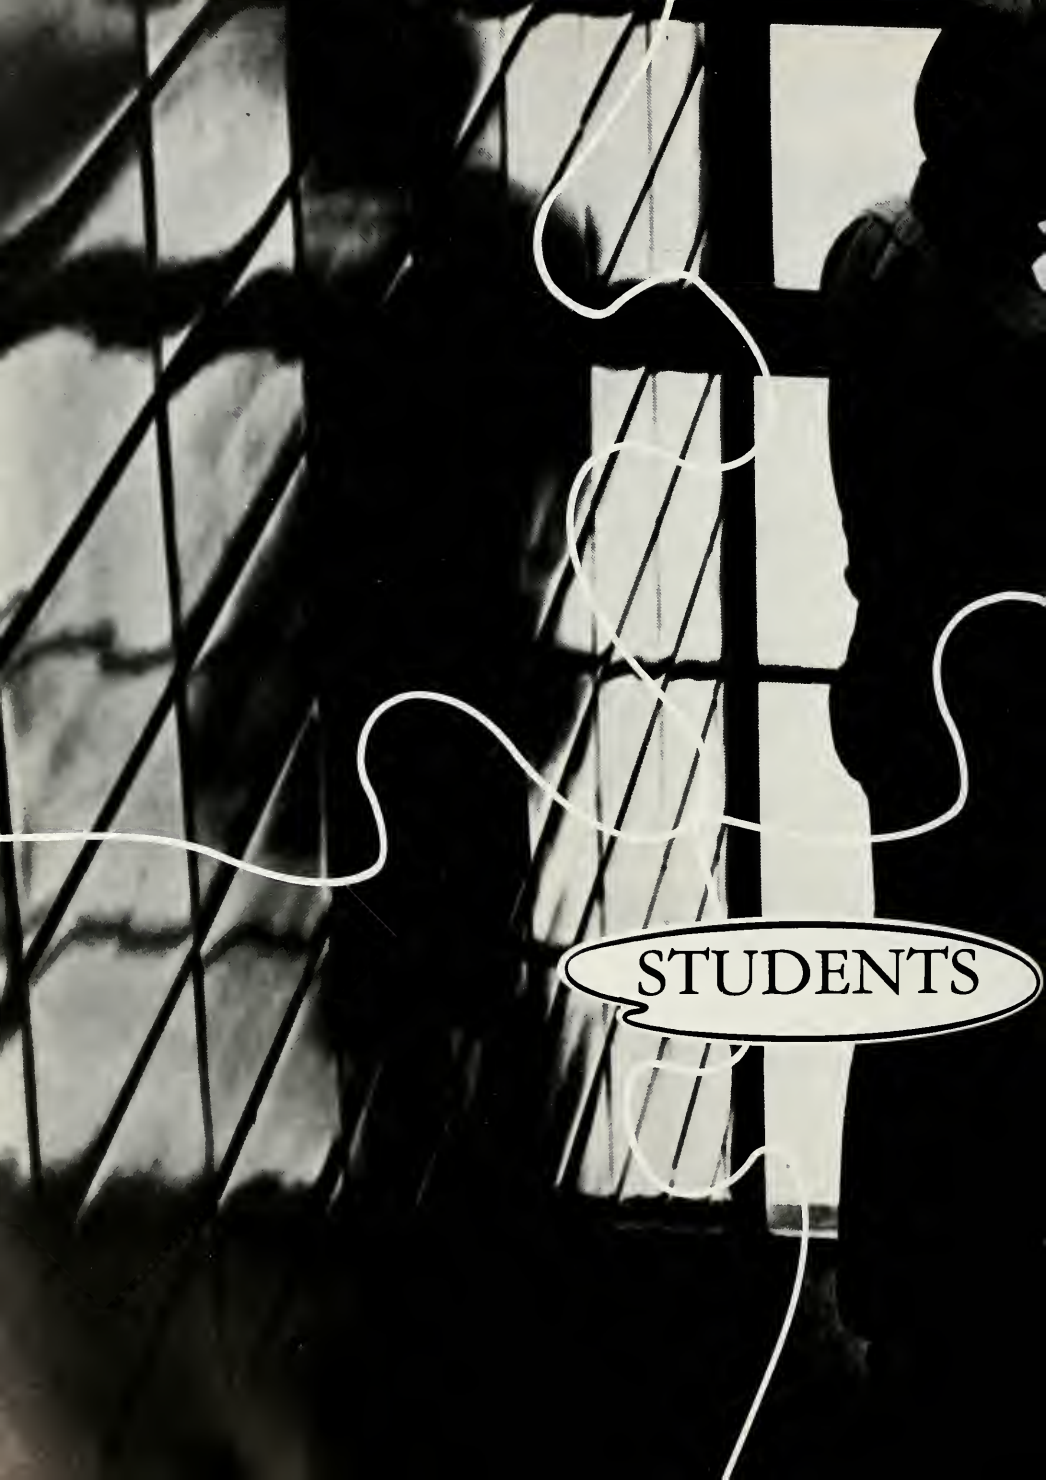

Mrs. Hoge considers a book for her Profiles in Civilization course.

"Whistle while you work."

"Don't tell me you're from West Virginia, lady!"

STUDENTS

Executive Board Investigates Controversial Issues

Executive Board

FIRST ROW: Melinda Snyder, Janice Patton, and Peggy Duncan. SECOND ROW: Pat Day, Steve Walters, Sam Petroff, and Jeff Deer. THIRD ROW: Tim Worman, Jim Roush, Joe Baldwin, and Allen Wolf.

Executive Board maintains the Veterans' Memorial.

Board members sponsor a successful Christmas canned goods drive.

The Executive Board had a controversial agenda this year with items such as a student lounge, exam exemption, and the underground newspapers. At Christmas the Executive Board sponsored a canned goods drive to help the Dominican Sisters aid the needy Springfield families. They also sponsored a contest to choose a theme for the Sadie Hawkin's Dance. At the end of the school year, the Executive Board planted flowers around North's veterans' memorial.

Sophomore Class Council

FIRST ROW: Sam Petroff, Nanci Taggart, and Barb Buchanan. SECOND ROW: Dee Johnson, Jackie Goings, Chrisanne Dunlap, and Priscilla Levine. THIRD ROW: Kay Falkner, Miriam Wolf, and Patricia Massie.

The Sophomore Class Council members were busy with various projects this year. Early in the year they conducted a magazine sale to earn money for their treasury. They built and operated the marriage booth at the Sadie Hawkin's Dance. The Sophomore Class Council also collected money for the Valerie Markoch fund. At the Junior-Senior Prom, many Sophomore Council members served as prom workers.

"Ah, would you repeat that, please?"

Sophomores Prove Ability

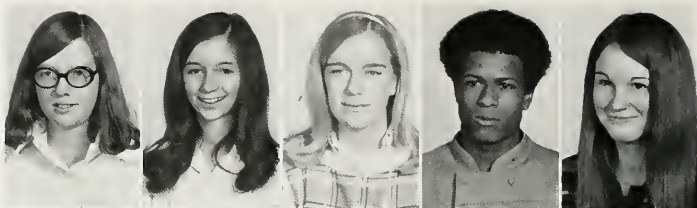

Sophomore Class Council Officers
Sam Petroff, Secretary-Treasurer; Mike Ronemus, Vice-President; and Steve Walters, President.

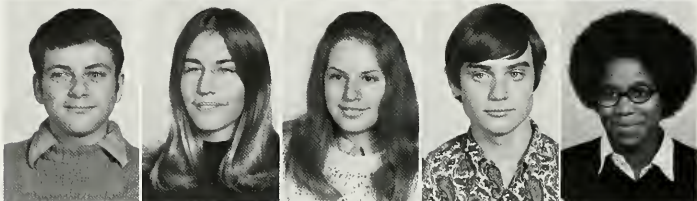

The Sophomore Gossip Council is in session.

Juniors Practice Politics

FIRST ROW: Elissa Stewart, Debbie Miller, Janice Patton, Patricia Smith, Anne Frayne, Lori Miller, Christie Deer, Jill Henderson, Melinda Snyder, Kay Wichner, Connie Waln, Becky Morrison, and Susie Gray. SECOND ROW: Pat Day, Paul Henderson, Stephen Nash, Richard Peairs, Walter Doss, Steve Wilkins, Bill McLemore, and Mark Sellers.

Junior Class Council played an active part in many North High functions this year. To add a touch of originality to the Sadie Hawkin's Dance, the Junior Class Council created a big success with a Lover's Leap. The juniors also sponsored a raffle to collect money for sophomore Valerie Markoch. Organizing the Junior-Senior Prom, along with decorating the gym and providing refreshments, was one of the last projects sponsored by the Junior Class Council.

Melinda Synder listens to "Sadie Hawkins" plans.

Junior Class Council Officers
Melinda Snyder, Secretary-Treasurer; Pat Day, President; Janice Patton, Vice President.

Jeanne Heckler puts the finishing touches to the Prom decorations.

Senior Class Council

Senior Class Council Goes Liberal

Senior Class Officers

Allen Wolf, Vice-President; Tim Worman, Secretary-Treasurer; and Jim Roush, President.

Apathetic was not the word for this year's Senior Class Council. Its attempts at innovation caused much dispute among members and fellow classmates, and the council itself often split over major concerns such as Class Night format, choice of Commencement speakers, and a proposal to allow students to work off demerits. The council also held a Christmas dance to raise money for the Valerie Markoch Kidney Fund, attempted to move graduation ceremonies outdoors, and, to round off the year, compiled a set of helpful hints for next year's Senior Class Council.

Student Body Officers Are V.I.P.'s

Student Body Officers

Jeff Deer, Vice-President; Joe Baldwin, President; and Peggy Duncan, Secretary-Treasurer.

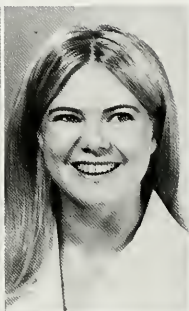

Student Body Officers, who are also the officers of the Executive Board, are chosen by their classmates at the end of the junior year. Since all issues concerning the entire student body, such as exam exemptions, must come through Executive Board, these officers are the clearing house for many proposed changes. Along with these duties, these students usually take charge of selling North High tee-shirts, jackets, jewelry, and stationery.

Class Night Brings Awards And Fun

Superintendent Dr. Lehman shares some amusing comments with the class of '71.

Class night, the traditional last get-together for seniors before graduation, broke away this year from the tradition of catered food to a formal potluck. On this night seniors received awards, and the Top Ten were announced.

Kathy Campbell presents STENTOR'S Best Male Athlete Award to Frank Ayres.

Ken Elder receives his Century Club membership.

Ding-a-lings They Aren't!

Mary Hughes is first; Becky Schulte, second.

Mike Keller is eighth; Margie Diehl, tenth.

Evelyn Anderson is fourth; Mark Armstrong, third.

Barb Black is fifth; Russ Dern, sixth.

Bonnie Maxton is ninth; Katie Glick, seventh.

The Top Ten students were those students who accumulated the ten highest scholastic averages of the four hundred and forty North seniors. The announcement of the Top Ten was made at Class Night, and those students were later presented the traditional bells in recognition of their achievements.

Jeff Deer presents the Alpha address.

ATTENTION

That's what these men will give you, especially when they are showing you how to use insurance to your advantage. To build a nest egg, to put a youngster through college for retirement or to provide an income if you get sick or become disabled. If you have any questions or want to discuss any aspect of life or health insurance, get in touch with these MONY men. You'll get the kind of attention and professional advice you want...and there's no obligation.
